

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Microparticles and a method for their production is described. The process of the present invention provides a simple, quick, and efficient one-pot process for the production of microparticles containing a hydrophilic active agent of various and uniform morphologies, including microcapsules, microspheres, and microsponges. The microparticles are preferably used for pharmaceutical applications.

10

卷之三